STRANGE GATHERING.

The Lame, Deaf and Blind, to the Number of Ten Thousand

Assemble to Receive Treatment From a Priest Credited With Possessing Miraculous Powers.

At least 10,000 afflicted people from all parts of the country gathered at Father Mollinger's church, in Allegheny City, Pa., on the 13th, to be healed and take part in the celebration of St. Anthony's Day. It was a curious assemblage of the lame, deaf and blind, drawn together by the reports of Father Mollinger's miraculous cures. The afflicted began to arrive the day before, and at night five thousand were encamped about the church, sleeping on floors, door steps, porches and the ground. The services began at day-break, and were continued all day and until late in the morning. Thousands were unable to gain admission to the church, and all day they stood in the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

THE STATE'S HONOR.

Governor Buckner to the Rescue.

The State Treasury has about reached a condition that would force the suspension of the payment of claims against the State for want of funds in the Treasury, and this condition must remain until July or August, when the State taxes for this year commences to come in. Under the constitution no more money can be borrowed. These facts were made known to Governor Buckner, who, rather than have the name of Kentucky tarnished by even a temporary suspension of payment, promptly proposed to advance from his own money a sufficient amount to pay all demands on the State until the revenue for this year commences to come in, and this without any interest whatever. It will require at least $50,000 to tide over the deficit until the middle of July or first of August, and may require more. But, whatever the amount, the Governor will have every dollar presented promptly paid out of his own money. Here's patriotism for you of the practical kind, and will do more to confirm popular favor toward Buckner than all else, for we doubt if there is another such an act on record. It is good at all times to have a patriotic Governor, but this at least is an illustration of one instance wherein it is good to have a rich man for Governor. A poor man might be ever so willing to save the State's honor by paying the State's debts, but he would not have the money with which to do it and thousands of rich men who ought be able would see the State sold out in bankruptcy before they would make such an advance as Governor Buckner. All in all, he is the grandest Governor Kentucky ever had.

THE Frankfort Argus is not pleased with the parole law. It says: "There are now seventy-nine prisoners at large under parole in Kentucky. This is getting them out about as fast as they are convicted. We would be glad to have a statement of the amount of money it required to convict the seventy-nine men out under parole. We venture to say that they cost the State fully $75,000 to secure the enforcement of law; but now another law must be enforced, and the same law breakers are turned loose upon the community."

CIVIL SERVICE Commissioner Lyman has been declared guilty of charges preferred against him in a Washington newspaper, and the committee that made the investigation says he is deserving of censure. Lyman's administration of the affairs of the Commission has been characterized by a laxity of discipline, the committee says in its report. The most serious charge against him is that he not only kept employed at the Commission's offices, but actually promoted his brother-in-law, Campbell, after it had been proved that he had been stealing and selling examination papers. Lyman will no doubt resign, and it is understood Campbell's resignation has already been tendered. Lyman is President of the Civil Service Board. He was the Republican member appointed by President Cleveland, and was retained by Harrison.

POLITICAL PERVIRIES.

THE Republican Congress is determined to prove to the American people that war is cheaper for them than peace.

THE Republicans in the Sixth District have nominated Wesley M. Bentley, a Falmouth lawyer, for Congress. Of course he will be badly beaten Saturday.

THE heavy expense of the long session of the Legislature, the cyclone appropriation and other unusual expenses have exhausted the money in the State treasury.

CLEVELAND gets twenty times as many votes as any other Democratic aspirant for President among the representative gatherings of party throughout the country this year.

THE Superior Court Democratic Convention at Lexington, last week, adjourned, sine die, without making a nomination. There is talk of settling the matter by a primary election.

THE public men who are afraid to express his convictions seldom achieves permanent success, and never really deserves it. Demagoguery is a cheap article, but courage is always precious.

The latest scandal in connection with the Pension Bureau relates in a real estate scheme. Officials of the office got up a land company, and induced the subordinates to take stock in it, the purchase of shares being a sure road to promotion.

"The devil is not always as black as he is painted," for we observe that Senator Hoar of Massachusetts has introduced a joint resolution in the senate providing an amendment to constitution for the election of postmasters by the people.

THE Elizabethtown News, by indirection, nominates Gov. Buckner for congress in the Ford district two years hence, the new apportionment putting the governor into that district. The governor would adorn any position in which he might be placed.

SEVERAL States have yet to hold their elections this year before November. Alabama and Kentucky will vote on August 4, Arkansas on September 2, Maine on September 8, and Georgia on October 1. One or more State officers will be elected in each State, and Vermont and Maine will choose Congressmen in addition.

THE St. Louis Globe-Democrat, while in a truthful state of mind, says: "No party since the old slavery days has been so torn up over any issue as the dominant party in congress seems to be on one or two of the leading questions of the day." Reference is made to the silver question and the tariff issue. This is a truthful admission.

THE recent grand jury at Lincoln, Ill., made it exceedingly sultry for a lot of fellows who had sold their votes. The record now stands: Indicted, 26; convicted and serving sentence, 16; out on bail, 5; fugitives from justice, 11. It is promised that the work will be again taken up in September, and those who have escaped will then be prosecuted. Those guilty of buying the votes should not be overlooked.

THE Court of Appeals, in the case of Chapman against the Western Union Telegraph Company, decided that the telegraph company is liable to a receiver of a dispatch for injury to his feelings, as well as to his purse. The telegraph company, in this case, had failed to deliver two messages to Chapman regarding the illness and death of his father. Similar decisions have been made in Tennessee and Kentucky.

NOW the facts are coming out that Speaker Reed, who has been so busy turning Southern Democrats out on pretext of fraud in the elections and giving their places to Republicans who declared elected by the grossest kind of fraud. The news comes from Biddleford, Me., that $2,000 was spent in that little town on election day, buying votes for Reed and similar sums in other towns all over the district.

THE Clarksville Tobacco Leaf Chronicle says: The gratifying news comes from the Ninth district that the people have determined to return Rice A. Pierce to Congress in the face of opposition. This is right, sir. Pierce is one of the best representatives from the South, and no man has ever made a better record the first term. He is no boaster in his people, a fast friend to the farming interest, a man capable of doing the farmers some good, if such a thing be possible, and his constituency ought to keep him there.

THE McKinley Tariff bill is getting hard knocks in all sections of the country. No one, except a few monopolists, like it, and the Senate follows the House and passes it, it will do the cause of tariff reform more good than anything else that could happen. Legislation for the benefit of the few is contrary to the American ideal, and as soon as the people realize the animus of discrimination that the Protection howlers make in favor of the rich manufacturers, the whole crowd will be relegated to obscurity. It was the enforcement of obnoxious tariff laws that made England a free trade country, and the United States a separate and distinct nation. The intelligence of the people can be relied upon to break the clamp that politicians would fetter them with.

WHO THEIR TRUE FRIENDS ARE.

It sometimes takes the colored people a long time to assimilate a fact, but sooner or later they succeed. They are now learning that the very best friends they have in this big world are the Southern Democrats, and they are slowly but surely drifting away from their new owners, the Northern Republicans. The list of colored Democrats is rapidly growing larger, the house frequently entered with an empty measure naturally becomes suspicious.—Houston Post.

NO ESCAPE FOR THE FARMER

One Kansas farmer has raised the money and paid off the mortgage on his farm. He did it by selling a meteor that fell in his cornfield, but he has not dared to say it is telling of it. There is a heavy duty on meteors, or the substances of which they are composed, and the very first thing the Government knows he will find himself in the clutches of a United States Marshal charged with defrauding the revenue, and will probably have to put a fresh mortgage on his farm to get the money to pay his fine and costs.—[Detroit Free Press.

HE RECEIVED HIS TITLE.

This is the way Private John Allen, the Congressional wit, got his title. He ran for Congress in Mississippi against Gen. Tucker, who opened the campaign with a rhetorical allusion in his services in the war, describing a battle in which he had commanded the Confederates, sleeping in a tent on the mountain side on the night of the battle. When he had finished Allen got up and said: "Friends and fellow citizens: It's all true what General Tucker told you about his sleeping in his tent that night before the battle. I know all about it, for I was guarding that tent all night long in the cold and wet on picket. And now I just want to say to all of you who were generals in the war, and slept at night in your guarded tents, like General Tucker, you vote for him. But all you fellows who guarded the generals' tents in the wet and cold like me, you vote for Private Allen." Of course, Private Allen was triumphantly elected and his title goes with his honors—Boston Herald.

A WONDERFUL SHOWING

The industrial progress of the South in the past three years, as mirrored in the Manufacturer's Record, shows a marked increase in every branch of industry, and the year 1890 leads all others in established and projected enterprises. The word "boom" in its general acceptance would hardly apply to the activity, enterprise and wonderful development of the South in this short space of time. Booms there have been, and they were enough in their way and do much towards advertising the sections, but it has been more of a steady growth, a gradual but sure progression, the faith of the man in the land, and the courage of his convictions in the development of its resources. Time was when people were content to feed their hands and wait for others to do the work. They feared to invest a dollar of their own money in anything which did not promise immediate returns. They kept their talents buried when they might have had them out at interest, and calmly wait the Northern capitalists to start the ball to rolling to build the furnaces, to dig their mines and start their cotton factories. But they finally discovered that they had to make the beginning themselves; they had to show the world that they had faith in their country and were willing to give all to its upbuilding, and when they did this capital came to their relief and locked hands with them in the great work.

A CYCLONE STORY

A Italian (Tex.) paper is responsible for the following: "On the day after the terrible cyclone of May 4, in Hamilton county, a man and a woman, seated in a two-horse wagon, were going along the Hamilton and Goldthwaite road in the direction of Goldthwaite. The off horse was gray. Following them were a man on horseback and a loose horse. Witnesses, whose veracity cannot be doubted, say that they saw the cyclone strike the parties and saw them carried high into the air, where they were swallowed up by the dark cloud and were not seen again. The man on horseback was sitting on his horse in the street the last seen. The woman was taken from the wagon and was plainly seen in the air higher than the tops of the trees. One of the eye witnesses was a lady, who fainted at the sight. At the time the cyclone struck them, three people were whipping their horses, evidently trying to run out of reach of the storm. The identity of the parties is unknown. There were no doubt all strangers travelling through the country. A large number of men have been searching the surrounding country for their bodies. Nothing so far has been found except a bunch of woman's hair, a lady's plush satchel, a pair of saddle bags with a woman's dress in them, and a man's vest with blood on it. Pieces of flesh have been picked up, but it is impossible to distinguish whether it is that of a human being or not. A wagon tongue, supposed to belong to this wagon, was found sticking in the ground some distance away."

THE last legislature passed a bill prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to boys under a certain age. But it seems the sale of them has not been stopped, judging by what the Courier-Journal says:

"Cigarettes are still bought by Kentucky children, in spite of the law. Jimmy doesn't propose to quit smoking until paw does."

General News Items.

THE Louisville Critic says that Watterson's salary on the Courier-Journal is $40,000 a year." He is at the rate of $100 a week—a pretty stiff salary.

THE business of the Mississippi river is estimated to be $98,000,000 yearly. Yet Uncle Sammie picks up a sliver in the corn every time he is asked to do something to protect it.

THE wedding of Mary Anderson and Antonio Navarro, of New York, occurred on last Tuesday. The ceremonies were performed by Cardinal Manning, at the Brompton Oratory, in London.

THERE is great distress among the people in the large cities of Japan. Thousands are starving, and the price of rice is higher than ever before. The outlook for the growing crop in Japan and Corea is not good.

A census enumerator at Richmond, Va., has found a colored woman named Martha Clay, who has had thirty-seven children since 1868. She has given birth to triplets six times, twins six times and to seven others single.

THE Republican candidate for Governor of Arkansas is ineligible on account of not having lived long enough in the State. He has plenty of time to overcome that objection, however, before he is likely to be elected.

HENDERSON, KY., pays more revenue in the government than any city in the state, except Louisville, and has done so for many years, and yet there is a vigorous kick made now because it asks for a $75,000 public building.

THE Wheeler organization, which had its origin in the southern part of the United States, seems to be spreading itself all over the world. Dispatches from Bermuda say the farmers there have formed a union to protect the small producers against the big farmers.

WITH Sam Jones in the Georgia Legislature, and Sam Small at the head of a Methodist university out in Utah, it looks as if the conversion of sinners in other parts of the country would have to be left to local talent. However, Sam Jones isn't elected yet. He is only running on the Prohibition ticket.

A SCHOOL-BOOK monopoly as recently been organized in a very quiet and unostentatious manner. Nevertheless it marks an important epoch in the book trade, and is of interest to a great number of school teachers throughout the country, to say nothing of the way of Americans who buy school books in the country. Some days ago effected an organization known as the American Book Company.

THE prospectus of a new transcontinental railroad, to start at Norfolk, Va., and run in a straight line across the country, has been issued at Washington. Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri, Arkansas, Indian Territory and Texas to be traversed. According to the prospectus, and a preliminary survey has been made, and elaborate calculations show that the whole project is to cost $60,000,000.

HALF a million dollars' worth of property was destroyed in the vicinity of Rockford, Ill., Friday night, by a local flood, caused by heavy rains. A portion of the town itself was suddenly inundated, and many people were driven from their homes by the water, which rose in the first stories of residences. The track of the Milwaukee road was washed away for half a mile. A similar state of affairs is reported at Joliet and other towns in Illinois.

REV. H. C. BAILEY, a prominent Afro-American minister in the South, means business, and has already undertaken a great work. He is notifying the women of loose character, chicken-thieves, and drunkards, who are among the most loud-mouthed in their professions of religion, that their presence is not wanted, and that if they do not get out he will have to take steps to put them out. He says that the time has arrived when the negroes must draw social lines; that there must be no aristocracy among the colored race as well as the white, else they cannot expect others to respect them.

IF ever there was a just claim for an appropriation in behalf of a river or harbor improvement, says the St. Louis Republic, it is that for the Mississippi and Missouri rivers. The very arguments used against the census put forward by the friends of river improvement are due to the fact that in the past the money has been spent in drib-lets scattered here and there—nowhere enough to establish permanent work of any magnitude. Owing to the zealous efforts recently made by representatives of the Valley States, it really looks now as if the matter was to be treated according to its merits, and a bonanza like the method of dealing with the river problem adopted.

THE proposition to erect by popular subscription at Cumberland Gap, in the Tennessee Mountains, colossal equestrian statues of Generals Grant and Lee, the former looking South and the latter looking North while each extends a hand to the other, appears to be meeting with favor in the South. A telegram from Messrs. Alexander A. Arthur and John M. Brooks, of the committee organized at Middlesborough, Ky., state that $11,000 has already been subscribed, and that the movement has taken the country by storm. The idea is a very happy one, and if it can be carried out will be a noble testimonial to the patriotism of the people North and South.

A BORN LAWYER.

One of Colonel Ingersoll's stories is, that he found himself alone in the office one day while as a young man studying law with a firm in Peoria. He was interrupted by the entrance of a raw-boned, sharp featured countryman who ambled into the room, nodding a wrecked forest, walked, 10-year-old boy by the hand. "Are you the lawyer?" she began. On being answered in the affirmative she produced a note that she had brought her boy out to town for the purpose of binding him out at the lawyer's trade. She was naturally certain, she averred, that Sam was a born lawyer, and that all he needed was a chance. "But, madam," objected the colonel, "he is getting too young to begin the study of law." "Too young, indeed," sniffed the fond mother, contemptuously; "you don't know Jim. He was never licked if he got killed for it. When he was 8 he got sassy, and put on more airs than a prize horse at the county fair, and now I'm sure he can lay his hands on."

AFTER building the people in great suspense for near two weeks the Supreme Court has at last decided the Court House or County Site question. It may seem, to those who do not know, that this decision settles the matter and that the County Seat will be moved in Union City without further delay, but in fact it does not. As we understand the only point involved was a question of law, and the cause is only now opened up to litigate the facts. The facts are to be tried and that will result in the exposure of various frauds. The case will probably be carried to the Supreme Court of the United States. The citizens of Obion County who favored justice and right have no fears about the result of this trial, and only regret that the County has suffered from the great expense attached to this aggravated question. At any rate we have the sale of our old jail will not come out in mourning.—Troy Press.

A CLERGYMAN was once accosted by a doctor, a professed deist, who asked him: "Do you follow preaching to save souls?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever see a soul?"

"No."

"Did you ever hear a soul?"

"No."

"Did you ever taste a soul?"

"No."

"Did you ever smell a soul?"

"No."

"Did you ever feel a soul?"

"Yes."

"Well," and the doctor, "there are few of the five senses against you upon the question whether there be a soul."

The clergyman then asked, "Are you a doctor of medicine?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever see a pain?"

"No."

"Did you ever hear a pain?"

"No."

"Did you ever taste a pain?"

"No."

"Did you ever smell a pain?"

"No."

"Did you ever feel a pain?"

"Yes."

"Well, then," said the clergyman, "there are also four of the senses against one upon the question whether there be a pain. And sir, you know that there is a pain and I know that there is a soul."

Congress has now made up two main issues for the next campaign. The Democratic banner will bear the simple motto: "Low taxes and free coinage of silver." Down with plutocracy, monopoly and the money devil and up with the people, the constitution and American liberty.

The Pulpit and the Stage.

Rev P. M Sheets, Pastor United Brethren Church, Blue Mound, Kas., says: "I feel it my duty to tell what wonders Dr. King's New Discovery has done for me. My Lungs were badly diseased, and my friends thought I could live only a few weeks. I took five bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery and am sound and well, gaining 26 lbs in weight." Arthur Love, Manager Love's Funny Folks Combination, writes: "After a thorough trial and convincing evidence, I am confident Dr King's New Discovery for Consumption, Sores and all throat and when everything else fails. The greatest wonderer I can do my many thousand friends is to urge them to use it." Free trial bottles at 37 A. Holcombe's Drug Store. Regular sizes 50c and $1 00.

COLUMBIA HALL

This celebrated stallion will make the season of 1890 at the stable of M. B. Mc-Johnson, near Cayce Station, Fulton county, Ky., at $20 to insure foal, payable when the mare proves to be in foal. Changes owners or is moved from the original stand, or $25 for the season. Due bill for service is rendered. Pasture for mares from a distance at $2 a month. Care will be taken to prevent accidents, but will not be responsible should any occur. Call and see little horse before breeding elsewhere.

Description and Pedigree.

COLUMBIA HALL was foaled in 1882 by Tom Hal, sire of Bryan Hall, 2:12), fastest stallion record in harness; Little Brown Jug, 2:14 (trial, 2:11), fastest three heats to harness; Hal Pointer, 2:15, with less than two seasons training, and dam by Gen. Benton, 2:29, sire of Sip, 2:21. Second dam by Brown Pilot, one of the fastest pacing stallions of his day.

Columbia Hall is a beautiful roan, 15½ hands high, and is in the critical observer the ideal of a race horse. Better pacing blood never crossed in the veins of a horse. He is a model in form, stylish in action, owns soundly in harness or under saddle, solid in temperament, and can be ridden or driven by a lady with safety. Without training he can show a 2:40 gait on the road. Mr. Dunn, the celebrated horse-trainer, who broke him to harness, says he is one of old Tom's best colts.

THE ANGELUS.

This masterpiece by the great French painter, Francois Millet, was purchased at auction in Paris last summer in the name of the Association of New York. The sum, $110,000 and duties amounting in all to about $150,000, was nearly $100 a square inch, as the picture is only four inches in size. This is the highest price ever paid for a single picture.

A Beautiful Photo Engraving, or reproduction about the full size of the original, in which the gradations and artistic quality have been considered in reproduction all the beauties of this painting, has been prepared specially to be sent as a free premium to every annual subscriber of the weekly edition of

JOHN YOUNG BROWN.

Hickman, July 2nd, Fulton, June 30th.

Hon. John Young Brown, the distinguished orator, will address the people of Fulton County, at Hickman, on Wednesday, July 2nd at 8 o'clock, p. m.; and at Fulton on Monday, June 30th, upon the political issues of the day.

John Young Brown is one of the ablest of Kentucky Democrats, and recognized as one of the finest orators in the Union. Years ago the whole country was singing the praises of John Young Brown. In 1860 he was elected to Congress before he had reached the required age, but his constituents knowing the fact, elected him anyhow and waited patiently until he reached the age. His career promised a splendid degree of brilliancy, and throughout several terms in Congress his magnificent gifts of oratory held the whole country in a protracted applause. His debate in Congress with old Ben Butler made his name famous. Why, in the midst of such great success, Mr. Brown saw fit to retire from public life the COURIER is not advised, but for the past ten or more years, he has not sought, or as we under stand been willing to accept public place, further than at all times manifesting his old time energy and power in behalf of the success of Democratic principles. The press of the State has recently made his name prominent as a probable Democratic candidate for Governor, and we presume his present canvass is somewhat in that direction. Of one thing we feel sure, that with John Young Brown's matchless oratory on the stump, as the Democratic nominee for Governor, a blaze of Democratic enthusiasm will be enkindled throughout the State such as has not been witnessed for twenty years.

The Democrats, and citizens of Fulton county, ladies as well as gentlemen, certainly ought not to miss this opportunity of hearing Kentucky's finest orator.

—The Paducah, Hickman and Southern Railroad, to sell, will bring suit against the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Construction company, of Newark, New Jersey, for failure to keep, now over for the construction of that railroad from Paducah to Hickman. The contention company took the contract to build that line of road on its completion some within a specified time, and for and in consideration of certain subsidies, &c., and has failed to comply with same, and refuses in the way of others taking said contract. At the reason of their failure, the Paducah & Hickman company will be legally authorized by the city of Paducah, and probably the Governor called by Hickman, to institute suit will be brought in many parishioners, and chiefly to showing circumstances in relation to a contract to build railroads, &c., merely for speculative purposes. The result of the suit, if instituted will be of widespread interest and attract wide-spread attention.

—We yield the palm to none in our display of elegant values in White Goods. Our Hemstitched and Embroidered Plaque goods rank well among the best attractions in that line. BALTZER & SHAW.

—The boom in prices of Hickman real estate, as it borrows, is now very perceptible, consequent upon the prospects of the new railroad and lower freights, and the opportunity for any investible or one could wish for the building of lots of desirable residences. Even the high priced real estate business can afford to not issue for sale, for there might be many eligible unimproved desires on. That the lower and realized will be built sometime, the Courier has scarcely a doubt, the contract has been let to apparently reliable and responsible parties, and they contract to complete the entire line from Hickman to Hickman in eight months. The contract, as far as it relates to the Hickman and Tiptonville Levee requires the locating survey to commence and be prosecuted to good faith by the 15th day of June which is being complied with now, the clearing of the right of way to be under headway by the 1st day of July, and the work on the Levee to be commenced by said time, and to be completed by the 15th day of July, 1891. And the contract binding to comply in all those accepted requirements from the charter of the Mississippi River Levee Company, under which they are operating in Kentucky, reverts to the Mississippi River Levee Company, and their powers and privileges under it ceases. These are the exact terms and conditions, and when the Levee is completed to Hickman they know exactly all that any one else knows in reference thereto and can seek investments or conditions on the road being built this year. So far the contractors have complied with requirements and the people of Hickman are getting in readiness to prosecute the work in good faith. It is safe to say further that this end of the line has complied with every request for aid, and that the amount of subscriptions and donations are, if not fixed, sufficient to insure the ultimate building of the levee and railroad, so that in any event the present contractors will let, the aid given will secure to minimize building by some one.

—Bring your Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, &c., that need repairing, to Buck Bros., opposite Mitt Shaw's grocery, at Buck Bros' and he will repair them as a first-class workman should. up20

—The ladies of the Methodist Church announces an ice cream supper for Saturday night next, the object being that of helping to pay for the parsonage recently purchased by the Methodist Congregation. As an laudable a work they should receive a liberal encouragement.

—Soda Water at Swayne & Co's.

—The engineers of the Missouri, Tennessee & Georgia Railroad have been engaged this week making the locating survey of the first six miles of the levee and railroad from Hickman toward the Kentucky line. The promise is that clearing the timber, &c., will follow immediately. Opinions "for or against" don't count for anything now, nor do they hasten or retard the work, and therefore let our old oil draw conclusions and wait and see.

BALTZER & SHAW.

OUR NEW RAILROAD

J. R. Bevan to Troy Press

The Missouri, Tennessee & Georgia Railroad is a certainty. The delay to enabling the interested parties living along the proposed line of projected railroad some uneasiness, but the entire line from Hickman to Humboldt is now under contract to Messrs Buell & Co., who are railroad contractors, who are entirely able and capable to put the enterprise through, and will, in the above months, have a competitive road from Humboldt to Hickman, forming an important link in the grand trunk line leading from Kansas City, in the northwest, through south-east Missouri, penetrating the center of West Tennessee, giving cheap and competitive rates to most of the Tennessee farmers. I will say this to the citizens living in the southwestern part of Obion county who are directly interested, that they will have a railroad soon. It takes some time to put everything in shape. The deeds to right of way, land donations and town bonds to be voted, and the authority given to corporations is not done in a day, and no capitalist will place money in securities but are not gotten up in proper shape. But all I have to say is, have patience, that the line will be put under construction and completed inside of twelve months. Buell & Co. are reliable and plenty able and willing to comply with their contract. It is not the intention of the Mo., Tenn. & Ga. railroad company to stop their road at Humboldt, but to carry it to the sea-board, following any company that is willing to build to Savannah, Port Royal or Charleston. In less than ten years it is the opinion of traffic experts that a double track railroad will be required to do the immense business from the northwest to the seaboard in the southeast. Everything is moving on slowly to the end.

—The Baptist protracted meeting, which has been in progress the past two weeks, has resulted in 9 additions to the church by letter, 8 by experience and a number of inquirers at the altar Sunday night. Bailey who has been preaching each night is a talented man and justly esteemed a good man. A number of candidates were baptized Sunday morning by Elder Fleming according to the custom of this grand old church. The meeting will no doubt be a good one, and is being, accomplished.

—Hickman was visited by a disastrous fire Tuesday morning, the conflagrating in Kingman & Romer's livery stable, spreading to the lumber of W. J. Forde & Co on the east, and the blacksmith shop of J. all. Loving and a dwelling house adjoining on the other. The buildings were all frame. The cause of the fire is not known, but originated in the upper portion from something about the hay loft. Kingman & Romer are the heaviest losers, but they saved all their horses, buggies, wagons, &c., but only a part of their harness. W. J. Forde & Co. also lose on the lumber, and $400 on rolling stock. The latter had no insurance. Loss about $1000. The buildings were all insured for $1,000. The blacksmith shop, owned by Dr. Fare, worth several hundred dollars, and no insurance. The dwelling house of J. H. Battle, unoccupied, and loss about $1200. The Forde & Porter mill was saved by good work, and but little hurt was incurred. The fire was a very dangerous one, and some very exciting and very narrow escapes were made. No one was hurt, but for the heroic efforts of citizen firemen it forcibly reminded all of the necessity of a fire department, and in so much as the city has expended a good deal of money for one and an efficient engine & fire company, it is to be hoped that this unavoidable misfortune may at least serve the good purpose of causing all property owners and citizens to an earnest effort in make our fire organization efficient.

NEW SCHOOL LAW.

Whereas new Trustees are constantly asking for copies of the new law, I consider it my duty to have written to request that I will have written to request.

"As soon as the Public Acts of the session of the General Assembly passed, and of the Amendments to the Common School Laws will be duly published by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, it will be prudent to be in his office on the 4th Saturday in June to quietly secure the necessary documents and vote. I shall be pleased to meet every Trustee elect and every retiring chairman on that day, to make the necessary settlements and distribute the necessary blanks. Now is the time to begin to make every school a success this fall.

THE FOREIGN LABOR QUESTION.

It is not to be doubted that the time has come for restrictive legislation of a decided character in the matter of foreign immigration. Our policy of unconditional welcome to the people of other countries has introduced certain elements that are a hinderance to our prosperity and a menace to our institutions; and the right of self-protection should be asserted in the form of a law absolutely excluding such as are likely to prove burdensome or mischievous. We have reached a point in our history where such discrimination is not only desirable, but indispensable, if we are to maintain the advantages that lie at the very root of our national strength, safety and progress. The data presented by the committee that has been investigating the subject go to show that in certain localities foreigners of a very objectionable type have crowded out the honest and reputable laborers, and practically taken possession of the field of employment. Mr. Powderly testifies that in the coal and coke regions the work is being mostly done by a class of people who are steeped in ignorance and depravity, who accept the smallest of wages, and who have no understanding of our political system and no sympathy with our form of civilization. Other witnesses tell similar stories as to other sections of the country, and the general showing is altogether bad.

Public Meeting.

A meeting of the citizens of Hickman is respectfully called to meet at the City Hall on Tuesday evening, 8 o'clock, for the purpose of organizing a fire company for the new fire engine recently purchased by the city, at which meeting all citizens are respectfully requested to attend.

A REMARKABLE PROPHECY.

A remarkable coincidence is related in connection with a blazing ball of meteoric fire which dashed across the state of Iowa almost in an instant Friday night. A man named William Speers, a prophet at Sioux City, had predicted in the afternoon that a moon would go flying across the heavens that evening, and that it would mean that no more rain would fall upon the earth. A brilliant and remarkably bright meteor appeared, and the prophet was so impressed with what he considered the fulfillment of his prophecy that he became insane and will be taken to an asylum.

THE FATHER'S KISS.

The Bitter Past Wiped Out by the Prodigal's Return.

And the Honrs of Eternal Grace Are Never Unused.—Sermon by Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D.D.

Dr. Talmage's sermon last Sunday was on the Prodigal Son, and his text was Luke xv., 20: "When he was yet a great way off his father saw him, and had compassion, and ran, and fell on his neck and kissed him."

One of the deepest wells that inspiration ever opened in this well of a parable which we can never exhaust. The parable, I suppose, was founded on fact. I have described to you the going away of the prodigal on the part of his father's house, and I have shown you what a hard time he had down in the wilderness, and what a very great mistake it was for him to leave so beautiful a home for such a miserable desert. But he did not always stay in the wilderness. He came back after awhile. We do not read that his mother came to greet him. I suppose she was dead. She would have been the first to come out. The father would have given the second kiss to the returning prodigal; the mother the first. It may have been the memory of her example and prayers that he became a prodigal. Sometimes the father does not know how to manage the children of the household. The chief workmen upon the mother. Indeed, no one ever gets over the calamity of losing a mother in early life. Still, this young man was not ungreened when he came back.

His flowever well appareled we may be in the morning when we start out on a journey, before night, we are sure to be in the dust and the jostling we have lost all cleanliness of appearance.

But this prodigal when he started from the sin-ster-trough, was ragged and wretched and his appearance, after he had gone through days of journeying and exposure, you can more easily imagine than describe. As the people see this prodigal coming on homeward, they wonder who he is. They say: "I wonder what prison he has broken out of? I wonder what lazaretto he has escaped from. I wonder with what plague he will smite the air." Although these people may have been well acquainted with the family, yet they do not imagine that this is the very young man who went off only a little while ago with quick step, and ruddy cheek, and healthful appeal. The young man, I think, walks very fast. He looks as though he were intent upon something very important. The people stop. They look at him. They wonder where he came from. They wonder where he is going to.

You have heard of a son who sent out to sea and never returned. A certain pipe in the neighborhood thought the son would never return, but the parents came to no such conclusion. They would go by the hour and day and sit upon the beach, looking off upon the water, expecting to see the ship that would bring home the long-absent boy. And so I think this father of my text sat under the vine looking off toward the road on which his son had departed; but the father has changed very much since we saw him last. His hair has become white, his cheeks are furrowed, his heart is broken. What is all this fountful table in him when his son has no fatherly bread? What is all the splendor of the wardrobe of that homestead when the son may not have a decent coat? Is it not all the sheep in that hillside to the father when his pet lamb is gone? Still he sits and watches, looking out on the road, and one day he beholds a long traveler. He sees him rise above the hill; first the head, and after awhile the entire body; and as soon as he gets a full glance of him he knows it is his recreant son. He forgets the crutch, and the cane, and the stiffness of the joints, and bounds away. I think the people all around were amazed. They said: "It is only a fool-pad. It is only a miserable tramp of the road. Don't go out to meet him."

The change in the son's appearance could not hide the marks by which the father knew the boy. You know that persons of a great deal of independence of character are apt to indicate it in their walk. For that reason the sailor almost always has a peculiar step, not only because he stands much on shipboard amid the rocking of the sea, and he has to balance himself, but he has for the most part an independence of character, which would show in his gait, even if he never went on the sea, and we know from what tranquility he started, and from what transpired before, that this prodigal son was of an independent and frank nature; and I suppose that the characteristics of his mind and heart were the characteristics of his walk. And so the father knew well that puts out his withered arm toward him; he brings his wrinkled face against the pale cheek of his son; he covers the quivering lips; he thanks God that the long agony is over. "When he was yet a great way off his father saw him, and had compassion, and ran, and fell on his neck and kissed him."

Oh, do you not recognize that Father? Whom was it? It is God! I have no sympathy with that iron clad theology which represents God as hard, severe and vindictive. God is a father—kind, loving, lenient, long-suffering, patient—and He flies to our immortal rescue. Oh, that we might realize it! A wealthy lady in one of the Eastern countries was going out of her home time, and she asked her daughters for some memento to carry with her. One of the daughters brought a marble tablet beautifully inscribed, and another daughter brought a beautiful wreath of flowers. The third daughter came and said: "Mother, I brought neither flowers nor tablet, but here is my heart. I have inscribed it all over with your name, and wherever you go it will go with you." The mother recognized it as the best of all the mementoes. Oh, that our souls might go out toward our Father that our hearts might be written all over with the evidences of His loving kindness, and that we might never again forsake Him.

In the first place, I notice in this text the father's eyesight; in the second place, I notice the father's haste; and in the third place, I notice the father's kiss.

To begin: the father's eyesight. "When he was a great way off his father saw him." You have noticed that people sometimes put a book off on the other side of the light. They can see at a distance a great deal easier than they can close by, I do not know whether this fact could see well that which was near by, but I do know he could see a great way off. "His father saw him afar off." Oh, he had been looking for the return of that boy especially that day. I do not know but that he had been in prayer, and that God had told him that that day the recreant boy would come home. "The father saw him a great way off."

I wonder if God's eyesight can descry as when we are coming back to Him? The vast pictures our condition—we are a great way off. The young man was not farther off from his father's house, sin is not farther off from holiness, hell is not farther off from Heaven than we have been by our sins away off from our God; aye, so far off that we could not hear His voice, though vehemently He has called us year after year. I do not know what bad habits you may have formed, or in what evil places you may have entertained, but you really to acknowledge, if your heart has not been changed by the grace of God that you are a great way off—so great that you can not get back of yourselves. You would like to come back. Ay, this moment you would start, if you could for this sin and that habit, and that disadvantage. But I am to tell you that Father's eyesight. "He saw him a great way off." He has seen all your struggles, all your deadly stages. He has been longing for your return. He has not been looking with a critic's or a bailiff's eye, but a father's eye; and if a gifted a child, God pities you. "Oh I had so many evil surroundings when I started in life." You see it. You say: "I had so many bad surroundings me. It is very difficult for me to break away from evil associations." He has been long-suffering with your inheritance of evil. "When he was a great way off his father saw him."

And this brings me to notice the Father's haste. The first one to see him. No wonder! He did not know but that the young man would change his mind and go back. He did not know but that he would drop down from exhaustion. He did not know but that some fatal night overtake him before he got up to the doorsill and so the Father ran. The Bible for the most part speaks of God as walking.

"In the fourth watch of the night," it says, "Jesus came unto them walking on the sea." "On the wings of the wind." But here parents heard the voice of the Lord, walking in the garden in the cool of the day, and when a sinner starts for God the Father runs to meet him. God is a man ever ready to help. He is ready to become a Christian. The word says to him: "Back with you, Holy Ghost spirit. Don't be hampered with religion. Time enough yet. Wait until you get sick. Wait until you get old." Satan says: "Back with you, you are too far out. God will have nothing to do with you, or "You are good enough and need no Redeemer. Take this case, take drink and be merry." Yes, the devil says: "Back with you, God is a hard master. The church is a collection of hypocrites. Back into the world, back to your evil indulgences, back to your prayerless pillow." The sinner thing a young man ever does—a young man after he has been sanding—till how much he tries to become a Christian, the prodigal can not find his way to his father's house alone. There is some one there to meet him he has better have stayed by the swine troughs.

When the tide comes to you night more easily than your boat—step back in the surge—than your own strength—to the ocean of your sinfulness—is transgressions. What are we to do? Let the Lord help us. He has been long-suffering with us and so rich to mercy; and so rich to grace; and so rich to glory that He will not cast us off. Wait until you get old? Satan says: "Back with you, God is a hard master. You have been trifling with Him so long that He will not hear you now."
